Half day CPD training to enhance ADI/PDI teaching skills in line with DSA CPD Driver Training Competence Framework, using a range of cutting-edge Psychological Techniques

Presented by Diane Hall, DSA(ADI), TFT-Alg.

In addition to receiving L of a way 2 Pass certification, Delegates attending this workshop will have completed half of DSA's recommended 7 hours per annum of CPD.

This workshop utilises a thoroughly researched range of proven psychological techniques, providing instructors with additional methods of delivering lessons tailored to suit the individual pupil's needs. Multi Sensory Learning will greatly enhance communication skills, especially for pupils with dyslexia, dyspraxia or ADHD. In addition, Instructors will be able to share techniques with pupils to eliminate test day nerves not only for pupils but also for their own part 2/3 or check test.

L OF A WAY 2 PASS WORKSHOP OBJECTIVES

- * Enable pupils to eliminate test day nerves
- * Enhance Confidence/Competence balance in all pupils
- * Eliminate the need to keep repeating MSPSL routine
- * Understand how personalities affect learning to drive and the test
- * Enable pupils to always differentiate left from right
- * Prevent pupils from 'talking themselves into failure'
- * Understand the specific issues that dyslexic/dyspraxic/ADHD pupils face
- * Usage of Multi Sensory Learning techniques tailored to each pupil
- * Help pupils to 'master the manoeuvres' in between lessons
- * Eliminate the frustration that you often feel as an instructor
- * Enable pupils to drive on test to the same standard as they do on lessons
- * More referrals from satisfied pupils & increased enjoyment of teaching
- * Improve the ability of pupils who struggle with learning to drive
- * Eliminate the huge amount of repetition during lessons
- * Increase your pass rate by combating DSA's Top Ten Reasons for Failure

What this workshop is not intended to do:

- * Teach you how to teach pupils to drive - you are already an instructor
- * Qualify you as a Thought Field Therapist or NLP Practitioner
- * Enable a pupil to pass their test who is not 'test standard'
- * Change your basic teaching methods - just enhance them.

A pupil may feel confident about their forthcoming test and then a moment later their belief changes to one that they will fail on the day. What changed in that instant? Certainly not their physical ability...but what has changed is their emotional state, belief in themselves and their confidence, resulting in talking themselves into failure. The mind plays a huge part in learning to drive and taking the test; so much of what a pupil thinks affects their physical driving ability. AA President Edmund King says: "The car is a life-line for many people in our society, yet for some the quality of their life is affected due to lack of confidence behind the wheel". How true this is. How would it feel to have at your fingertips the solution to any pupil's psychological challenges when learning to drive? How often do pupils fear a particular roundabout, manoeuvre or hill start and say 'I always stall/roll back/panic etc.' And of course that is exactly what does happen as they have talked themselves into it.

Just think back to your own Part 2/3 or Check Tests. Did you feel fired up, totally confident and eager to show the examiner your talents, or were you sick with fear/anxiety/panic and unable to sleep before the exam, or were you somewhere in the middle; not really looking forward to it, quietly confident in your ability but concerned that you may make a silly mistake?

Emotions affect everyone, everyday of their life, so why should it be any different when learning to drive? Positive emotions are beneficial and aid the learning process, so when a pupil feels a desire for learning to drive, they develop faith in their ability, which makes them enthusiastic and they are more likely to learn more easily than a pupil who is overtaken by negative emotions such as anxiety, fear, panic, frustration, intimidation, embarrassment.

This workshop offers the solution to all the emotional and psychological challenges that instructors are faced with on a daily basis with a range of pupils.

Diane has received an award from the Millenium awards Trust for Social Entrepreneurs for her research into these techniques and adapting them for instructors/learner drivers, and has featured in the Department of Environment Road Safety Challenge Awards. Some of the techniques featured in the workshop are to be found in her book L of a way 2 Pass which has many 5* reviews on Amazon from both instructors and learner drivers
